

Your invitation to join Ian Dunn online to explore Curriculum 2025

You may have heard murmurings about a new Coventry University focus called Curriculum 2025 (C2025) and wondered just what it was and who it would apply to.

You won't have to wait long to find out, because as a delegate of the Teaching and Learning Conference, you have been automatically registered on the new C2025 interactive e-course.

This gives you the opportunity to get ahead in understanding how C2025 will enable staff to futureproof courses. Taking part will also provide you with a platform to provide insight and feed back to Provost Ian Dunn, who is one of the course's facilitators.

How to access the course

Just click on your Moodle from 24 June 2019
(available to all registered delegates).

It will be live for one month after launch.

For more information email:
curriculum2025@coventry.ac.uk